

Development of quality improvement system based on continuous conversation

Jaemin YUN, Dongchun SHIN, Minseong JEE, Yeonjeong KO

Bory Inc.

Abstract— This report deals with continuous conversation - based quality improvement system in daily conversation. In this study, daily conversation scenarios in various fields that do not depend on specific areas are collected. Based on this scenario, we propose a continuous dialogue method in which the dialogue reflecting the current trend is met according to user 's time - varying needs. In this continuous dialogue, we describe a method and system implementation for improving conversation quality.